2 Weeks Long Projects

Coding:

The benefits of coding knowledge affect the very personality and mental state of children. Some of these advantages include:

- Boosting creativity - coding demands repeated experimentation. The process of trial and error encourages children to use creativity.
- Better math skills - coding mainly involves visualizing abstract concepts that can be applied to mathematical problem-solving. This, in turn, helps kids improve their math skills and use them in real-life situations.
- Builds confidence in problem-solving - since coding often involves making mistakes until you can get it right, children will learn that there's always more than one way to complete any task.
- Enhances academic writing performance - coding supports planning and organizing skills. Kids will be able to put their thoughts in order and can improve their writing skills.

Loose Parts Play:

Loose parts is a term used to include such object and materials that children can move, control and change in numerous ways.

The benefit in using loose parts to inspire play that is flexible and open to Childrens imagination and creativity.

Loose parts offer learners infinite possibilities for play as they line up, scatter, carry, knock about, take apart, put together and redesign these parts.
